

Frequently Asked Questions

Are you actually producing the Content or Graphics yourself, or do you get it from somewhere else and then pass it on to us? Our team is composed of writers, bloggers, web developers, and graphics artists. We create our own content and graphics for that matter. There is no intermediary. To date, we have completed thousands of articles and blogs for our clients. We are ghostwriters; so definitely, you won't be seeing CG as the writer.

Do you create other types of Graphics besides the Books, Boxes, etc. that are listed on your website - and create things like Icons, or other Graphics that could be used as Links or Menu Buttons, or to highlight a small section of a page? Yes, aside from eBook covers and banners (animated or static), we can create other types of graphics, too. Our graphics portfolio is still under construction.

I did not see any Pricing for the Graphics you create. What are your costs for Graphics? We purposely did not include the graphics price on our website since most of them will be customized. But, for simplicity's sake, the eBook covers and banners, and the other designs on our site, will cost approximately $20 per design.

How long is the Article (approx. how much content - a few paragraphs, a few hundred characters, 1 or 2 pages, etc.)? Our current rate is $7.00 for 400 words. We set a minimum of 400 words on each article. However, we may ask for an additional fee, should we find your topic requiring intense research. Bulk pricing are also available upon disposal.

For you to create an Article for us, would we simply give you a Topic and you create the Article, or do we (can we) provide certain ideas or concepts that we would like incorporated into the Article? We appreciate any ideas that you can give us as to how your articles will be created. Presently, though, our current clients give us keyword phrases; we do the research and create the articles for them.
